Creative Quarter

Broad Street Pedestrian Environment Improvements
Phase 1 - Carlton Street to outside Revolution Bar

As part of the Creative Quarter transport improvements Nottingham City Council will be making improvements to Broad Street.

The works will be carried out in five phases and take around six months to complete. Unfortunately due to the construction works the outdoor dining areas will not be available for use from April this year, although it is hoped that we can reintroduce them later in the year around late July/early August.

We will keep you updated throughout the works with a series of flyers, starting with phase one, which will start on Tuesday 2nd April 2013 for approximately six weeks.

Nottingham City Council

Creative Quarter

What is being improved as part of Phase one?

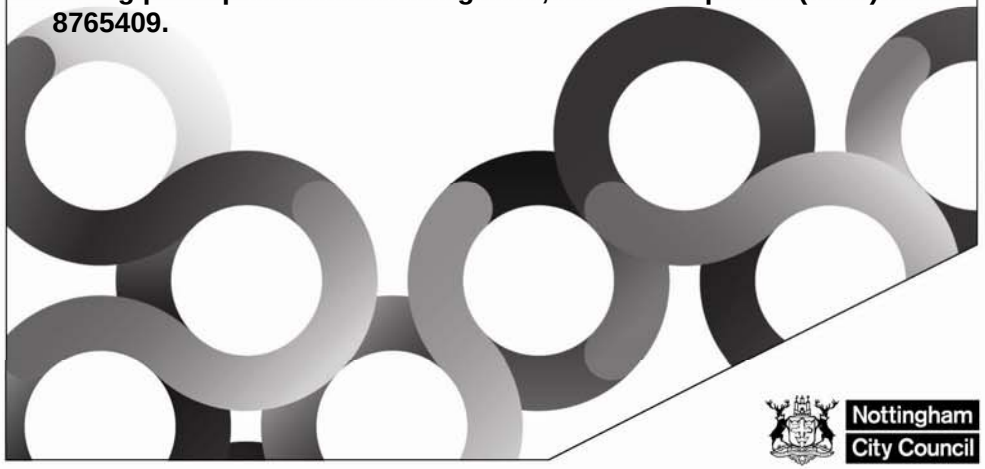

New paving and kerbing will be installed. This will be enhanced with new street lighting, street furniture and trees. The carriageway will be raised level with the footways.

How will the improvements be carried out?

Loading and pedestrian access will be maintained throughout the works. The one-way system and Pay and Display parking will be temporarily removed and Broad Street will be closed at its junction with Old Lenton Street and High Cross Street, except for loading. Access for loading will remain as normal up to the limit of the works and egress will be via Old Lenton Street or High Cross Street. If loading or access is necessary from Carlton Street this will be available from Fletcher Gate via Warser Gate and Stoney Street, where the one-way system will be temporarily removed.

We apologise for any inconvenience these works may cause and would like to reassure you that we will do all we can to keep any disruption to a minimum.

If you would like to know more about the construction works taking place please call the Engineer, Ben Biddulph on: (0115) 8765409.

Nottingham City Council